GUIDELINES

If you are looking for institutional/university-level information (on housing, insurance, visa, application, facilities,...) please consult the following website : <http://www.ugent.be/en/exchange/> or contact the Institutional Exchange Advisor (Studentsin@UGent.be).

Acceptance policy

First of all you can only apply when there is an agreement between the faculty of your home university and the Law faculty of Ghent University.

Courses taught in English:

If you want to apply for the courses taught in English (see course list in this brochure below) we have 2 restrictions:

- Only students with a good command of English (written and oral) can be accepted.
Therefore, please do not forget the Language Requirement form asked for in the university's application procedure.
- We can only accept students which are at an advanced level of their studies. If you are following a 5-year law program (leading to admission to legal practice) you must be in one of your last two years when coming to our faculty. If you are following a 3- or 4-year program you must be in your last year of studies.
Therefore, please do not forget to provide the Transcript of Records of your previous years of study, asked for in the university's application procedure

Courses taught in Dutch:

If you are willing and able to follow courses taught in Dutch, you are welcome at Ghent Law School in any year of your studies.

Courses

As a rule, our students take 60 credits per year. Therefore, we advise you to compose a program of approximately 30 ECTS credits/semester with a minimum of approx. 27 ECTS/semester. This corresponds with 4 to maximum 6 courses/semester.

You cannot write a paper instead of taking part in courses or exams, if such possibility is not available to regular students.

Please check the course specifications (see List of Courses below and click on the description symbol) for each of the courses you want to follow. This will give you further information on the evaluation moments and methods for the courses you may want to choose.

Some courses (marked with (*) in the course list available for exchange students) require some previous knowledge.

Dutch courses can be found in the general course catalogue:
<https://studiegids.ugent.be/2018/EN/FACULTY/faculteiten.html>.

Milestones

Important milestones can be found in the academic calendar.

We expect the incoming students at the faculty to be present from the welcome days on (the welcome days take place on 20 and 21 September 2018) until the end of the exams. Exception is allowed only when there are no classes or if the home university has deviating semester dates.

Exam regulations: exceptions for incoming exchange students

Bringing forward an exam

Bringing forward an exam - i.e. doing it earlier than during the regular exam period for Belgian students - is only possible in exceptional circumstances. The main reason for bringing forward an exam (this situation mainly occurs for first semester exams) is that you have to be back at your home university where the next (2nd/Spring) semester starts before the Ghent exam period has ended. In the second semester we do not immediately see an academic reason for bringing forward exams. If you think you have grounds for bringing forward an exam, the International Relation Office (iro.law@ugent.be) should be informed before 15 December. You will be asked to provide a confirmation from your home university that your second semester there starts before our exam period will have finished.

What should/can you do if you fail an exam?

The examination regulation stipulates that a re-examination is only possible during the resit examination period (meaning between mid-August and mid-September) but a deviation of this rule has been accepted for the incoming Erasmus/Exchange students.

If you know that you failed an exam you have the opportunity to retake the exam:

1° during the current exam period OR

2° within one week following the announcement of the results of the exam period OR

3° if you are staying here for two semesters you can retake your failed exam of the first semester during the exam period of the second semester OR

4° during the official second re-examination period (mid-August – mid-September).

For the first three options you need to contact the professor concerned and agree on a date. Therefore you need to fill in the document which will be put at your disposal. Do not forget to sign it and to have it signed by the professor before returning the form to the International Relations Office (you can drop this form in the letter box at the entrance of the office building) BEFORE the re-examination date.
